Sinfulness of Making a Profit

The tendency to see monopolistic practice in nearly every facet of American business and industry is a tonic attitude of the Justice Department. Now it has turned its attention to advertising and found much in it that is bad.

Speaking before a recent session of the Federal Bar Association, the department's anti-trust division chief, Donald Turner, proposed a Government-sponsored substitute for private advertising of consumer products. It could take the form, he said, of federal publication of information put out by various consumer groups.

Now what does Mr. Turner find wrong about a company spending money to promote its product? Well, it's the "monopolistic effect" and a trend to concentration of markets. Just how these proposed evils come about from seller's telling the buyer of wares does not appear from reading of Mr. Turner's lengthy discourse. But the chief hint of his concern is fairly clear: Advertising is profitable to Mr. Turner is suspicious of the profit principle in economics.

In this attitude he reflects what increasingly appears to be basic timidity of the Justice Department. It is that the profit motive is reprehensible, that business enterprise must be severely limited in reaping the rewards of initiative and inventiveness, that it is the function of government to put the halter on those who have made the American economy what it is today by introducing innovations and taking risks.

The role of advertising in the vast expansion of the economy has been — and remains — vital. It is the key factor in maintaining competitiveness and making industry alert to the need of meeting the growing needs and desires of the population. The fact that some companies spend more on promotion than others is not, Mr. Turner suggests, to be condemned, but to be welcomed as a token of the vigor of the competitive system. It is a better safeguard against monopolistic control of prices and markets than anything government bureaucracy has yet devised.

In the end it is that congenial hostility toward doing business for gain that crops out in the remarks of the Justice Department spokesman. He bares in citing such a natural thing as the "significant correlation" between the amount of industry devoted to advertising and profit. He notes as if it were an indictment that companies with major advertising expenditures have 50 per cent higher profit rates than those which do not make "significant effort" in promotion. This notion of the Economics may come as a surprise to people who never imagined that competing for customers and engaging in business for profit is sinful. — Roanoke A. Times.

Fire Posed Threat at Plant Here

Hope Firemen sent a truck to a burning generator plant in the Proving Ground yesterday where a burning motor had ignited some paint thinner.

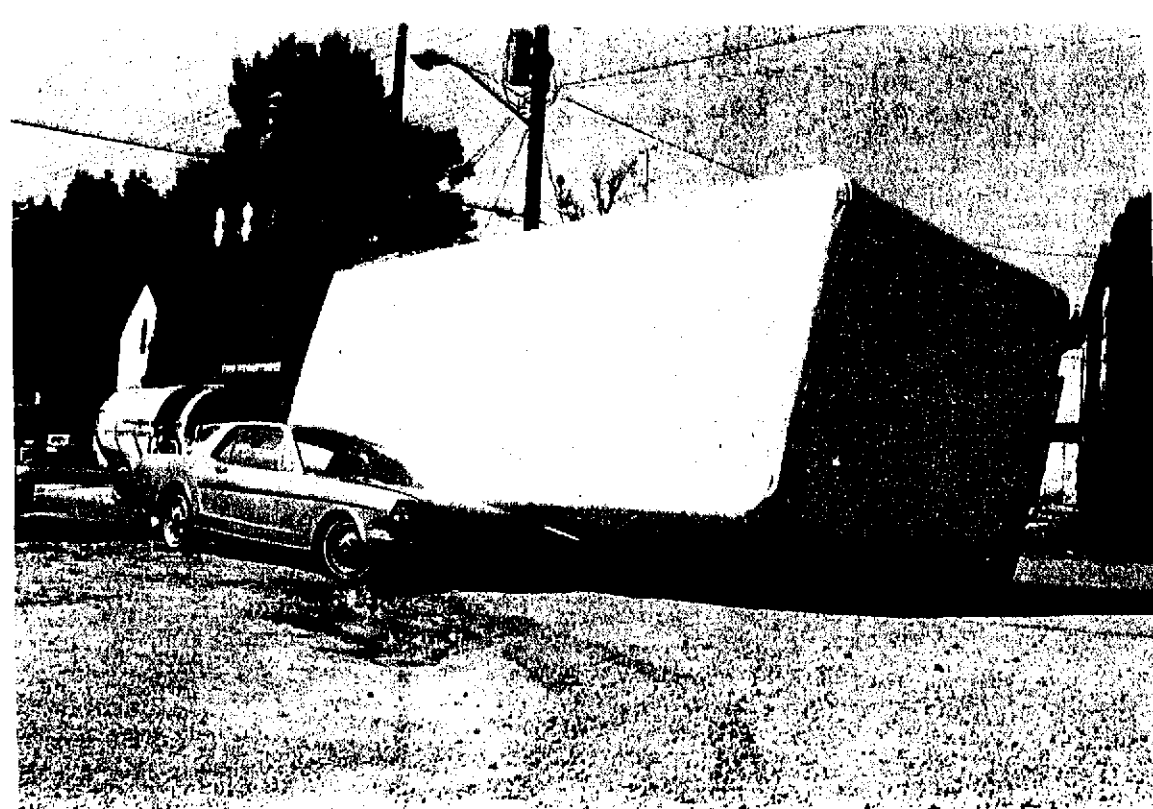

The blaze threatened to reach several barrels of the explosive liquid before it was brought under control. Damage was held to a minimum but the plant did close yesterday afternoon as a precautionary measure.

Operation proceeded as usual yesterday.

Firemen also made a run to a yard where a city police car was burning. Wiring caught and was damaged on the vehicle.

Singer Really Got Her Start Selling Plots in Cemetery

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Kaye Stevens, red-haired bombshell of the night clubs, had an earlier career as probably the nation's most successful teen-age cemetery plot salesman.

"I got used to money at a very early age," remarked the young singing comedienne. "I was just turning 7 when I won $7.50 in an amateur contest — and I gave it all to the church."

When she was 14 her father, a Cleveland, Ohio, mechanic, died, and she had to go to work in earnest. Kaye, a self-taught singer who also plays bass drums and the guitar, soon was making $150 a week.

But the girl is a hard worker. On graduating at 16 from high school, she wanted to find something to occupy her days. She answered an ad requiring an "ability to meet people."

"The job was selling cemetery plots, and I loved it," said Kaye. "I wore a black dress and black-rimmed glasses and made myself up to look a mature 22."

"I made a minimum of $500 a week. Whatever you do, be good at it—that's my motto."

"Then I quit it for a job singing in Buffalo at $125 a week. That doesn't seem like good business, but it was what I wanted to do. Besides, we had sold all the lots in that cemetery, and I'd have had to find another one."

As you can see this Mustang was sadly overmatched this morning on Laurel Street near the Fire Station. This big Stephens Grocery Co. truck driven by Terrell Adams, hit a ditch and overturned on top of the parked car. The small car, owned by Rodney Herring, was badly damaged.

Fulbright Says Policy Is Supported

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hanoi and Peking are mistaken if they are refusing to negotiate an end to the Viet Nam war out of a belief that President Johnson lacks support in his war policy, Sen. J. William Fulbright said Monday.

Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat who is a leading spokesman of congressional opponents of Johnson's war policies, said he didn't believe the President is isolated in his policy.

"The Congress is more warlike than he is," said Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Some administration officials are reported to feel vocal opposition to the war among congressional doves has given Hanoi and Peking the impression that the President has so little support for his policy he will ultimately have to retreat.

And this, they are said to feel, is a factor in the Communists' refusal to come to the bargaining table despite the increased tempo and power of U.S. military activity.

Consolidation Brings Split in Group

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bitter rift over the school consolidation proposal led directors of the Arkansas Rural Education Association to recommend Monday that its teachers quit the Arkansas Education Association.

AREA, which was formed last February, is vigorously opposed to a proposed constitutional amendment on the November general election ballot which would dissolve school districts with fewer than 400 pupils.

Forrest Rozzell, executive secretary of the AEA, has indicated support for the measure.

Hershel Lee, Greenbrier school superintendent and president of the rural group, said teachers at AREA schools would not be required to quit the AEA, but AREA was suggesting that they not pay their $10 dues to AEA, giving the money to AREA instead.

Lee estimated that there were about 7,000 teachers at AREA schools, with about 98 per cent of this number members of the AEA.

Rep. Ode Maddox of Montgomery County, Oden school superintendent, told about 70 fellow AREA members at the organization's meeting Monday that proponents of the consolidation amendment would like to have it withdrawn.

"It's probable that it will be withdrawn," Maddox said, but he warned that AREA should not become overconfident.

The AEA proposed a school consolidation measure but it was killed at an AEA meeting in March when rural forces amended the proposal to increase the minimum number of pupils from 400 to 2,000. The 2,000 figure for consolidation purposes is considered by school authorities to be unattainable in Arkansas at present.

Supporters of consolidation, however, managed to get the proposal on the general election ballot by obtaining more than the required number of 50,000 signatures.

Jim Johnson, an announced opponent of the measure and the Democratic nominee for governor (based on unofficial returns), was the center of another AEA-AREA feud.

MIG Attacks Fail to Hurt U.S. Bombers

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two MIG17 fighters loosed 37mm cannon fire at four U.S. Navy A4 Skyhawks which were attacking a train 70 miles south of Hanoi today, but the heavily laden Skyhawks took evasive action and none were damaged, the U.S. Command announced.

The light attack bombers, from the carrier Oriskany, were reported to have damaged four boxcars of the train. Though each is ordinarily armed with two 20 mm cannon and various rockets, a spokesman said they did not fire back at the Soviet-built MIGs. He said the 680-mile-an-hour Skyhawks are a shade slower and were in no position at the time for a successful fight. The four were operating without the normal top cover by Phantoms or Thunderchiefs.

The encounter came the farthest south that enemy jets are known to have ventured in the war, American pilots have reported the destruction of 17 MIGs. The enemy fighters have shot down five U.S. planes.

The Justice Department, acting on behalf of the committee, promptly asked a three-judge panel of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to throw out Judge Corcoran's order. The judges left it in force overnight and directed the ACLU and Justice Department to file written briefs today.

Refusal to obey Judge Corcoran's order could subject the nine committee members, all named as defendants in the suit, to contempt of court action.

Pilkinton Quits Hope School Board

James H. Pilkinton, who is presently serving as President of the Hope Board of Education, said today that his term would expire in September and that he would retire from the school Board.

"I am making this statement now so that anyone interested may seek the position. I am certain that there are others interested in education who will be willing to give the time necessary to serve on the School Board."

Mr. Pilkinton, who is now the Democratic nominee for Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas, has served three years as a member of the local Board of Education and has been President of the Board during the last year.

The annual School Election is scheduled for September 27th. Candidates must qualify by petitions at least twenty days prior to the date of the school election.

UN-American Group Suit Tossed Out

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special three-judge court threw out today the temporary restraining order against a hearing by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

The ruling was announced seconds before 10 a.m., when the hearings into demonstrations against the Viet Nam war were scheduled to open.

The special court said, however, that it would consider at any time a request for a hearing about the matter.

Attorneys for the American Civil Liberties Union which had sought the order against the committee hearings and had won the first round, conferred immediately to consider their next step.

The special three-judge court said it dissolved the temporary restraining order which had been granted by a District court judge Monday, because there was "no finding of irreparable damage as required by the statute."

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Committee on Un-American Activities prepared today to defy a federal judge's order against its hearings on anti-Viet Nam war activities in an apparently unprecedented clash between Congress and the judiciary.

Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., acting chairman of the committee, said it would meet as scheduled despite Monday's order by U.S. Dist. Judge Howard Corcoran. Extra police were ordered posted around the House office building should there be any demonstrations by peace groups.

Corcoran, acting on a suit brought by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) on behalf of two of 13 persons subpoenaed by the committee, issued a temporary restraining order forbidding the hearing. He blocked the subpoenas and directed that a three-judge federal court be convened to consider constitutional questions raised by the suit.

The Justice Department, acting on behalf of the committee, promptly asked a three-judge panel of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals to throw out Judge Corcoran's order. The judges left it in force overnight and directed the ACLU and Justice Department to file written briefs today.

Refusal to obey Judge Corcoran's order could subject the nine committee members, all named as defendants in the suit, to contempt of court action.

$56 Millions for Hospitals

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In the 20 years of its existence, the federal Hill-Burton Act has provided more than $56 million for construction of hospital facilities in Arkansas, the state health officer said Monday.

Dr. J. T. Herron released the statistics on the anniversary of the signing of the legislation by President Harry S. Truman. Herron said 172 projects had been approved for Arkansas under the program, providing 6,339 beds in hospitals and nursing homes and 31 other types of health facilities. The act has also resulted in the upgrading of medical care, Herron said.

Democrats May Update Party Rules

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Pulaski County Democratic Convention appointed Monday 96 delegates to the State Democratic Convention and then adopted a resolution favoring a revision and updating of the party's rules.

The convention authorized the delegation to the state convention to vote as a unit.

Mrs. Finley Williams proposed the resolution "as favoring a thorough revision and updating the rules of the Democratic Party in Arkansas."

It also provided that delegates be instructed and bound to submit to the state convention "such proposals as necessary to effect the above changes and any other changes in the rules which may be considered necessary."

The changes she referred to were removing the unconstitutional provision that the poll tax be a qualification for voting, that composition of the county committee be clarified to provide for the growth of an active and vigorous organization and that Roberts' Rules of Order, Revised, should govern proceedings of all meetings of Democratic party organs in matters not covered by state law.

The six were Clark, Columbia, Faulkner, Polk, Pulaski and Mississippi, Catlett said.

Senate Talks of Calling Up Reserves

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate faces a bipartisan effort today to give President Johnson authority to call into service for 18 months thousands of young men now in the Ready Reserve.

The move by Sens. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., looms as the key issue as the Senate takes up the $58-billion defense appropriation measure. Russell is chairman of the Armed Services Committee, Saltonstall its ranking Republican member.

As the law is now, the President would have to declare a state of emergency before he could summon the Ready Reserve to active duty.

But Russell, manager of the appropriation measure, calls it a scandal that "men who have enough pull to get into Reserve or National Guard units are not being sent to fight, while the man across the street who is drafted lands in Viet Nam."

Russell and Saltonstall plan to ask the Senate to include an amendment in the appropriation bill that would authorize the President — but not require him — to call up for "not more than 18 consecutive months" those ready reservists who have not served on active duty other than for a training stint.

One source estimated this would cover more than 500,000 men.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, with obvious backing of Johnson, has opposed any call up of the civilian reservists for Viet Nam duty.

But as an indication of the support Russell and Saltonstall may draw for their amendment, the Appropriations Committee voted unanimously to include in its report a demand for greater use of the reserves.

The committee said it would be "in the national interest to utilize a reasonable portion of the reserve forces of all the services" to fulfill commitments in Southeast Asia and elsewhere.

Beatles Stay Clear of Any Theology

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Steering steadfastly clear of amateur theology, the Beatles resume their American tour today, having sent thousands of the capital's teen-agers into cheering fits.
Under elaborate police guard, the unshorn quartet performed Monday night in D.C. Stadium. The turnstiles clicked to a total of 32,164 and the affair went off practically without incident.
Five Ku Kluxers, proclaiming their objection to Beatle John Lennon's remarks about Christianity, picketed the stadium.

But the nearest thing to violence was when a 16-year-old youth eluded the police cordon at third base, streaked to the bandstand at second base and laid a hand on three Beatles before being collared. He explained that he just wanted to touch the musicians because he admired them so.

The concert, punctuated by piercing cheers and screams, followed a news conference.

Did Lennon feel, a newspaper asked, that the Vatican had made him feel better, had sort of got him off a hot spot? This was a reference to a 1963 Observer article saying Lennon had spoken of Christ without thinking, "offhandedly and not impiously."

Lennon replied: "If it makes other people feel better, it will make me feel better."

Some pastors had denounced him, and some disc jockeys signaled for bonfires fueled by Beatle works, because he had remarked:

"We're more popular than Jesus now. Jesus was all right but His Disciples were thick and ordinary. It's them twisting it that ruins it for me."

Later he apologized, saying he had merely tried to deplore some people's attitude toward Christianity.

N.Y. Herald, Tribune Out of Business

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Herald Tribune, heir to the journalistic legacy of Horace Greeley and James Gordon Bennett, is dead.

The end of the Herald Tribune, which has not published for 115 days, was announced Monday by the World Journal Tribune Inc., the new publishing firm incorporating the Herald Tribune, the World-Telegram & Sun and the Journal-American.

Matt Meyer, president of the new company, said the publishers planned to go ahead with new afternoon and Sunday papers. Labor difficulties have kept all the planned new papers from being published since the merger was announced last April.

Meyer said the long delay has caused a loss of "talent in all creative departments of the Herald Tribune."

"It now has reached the point where we cannot bring the public the kind of morning newspaper hoped for. We are unwilling to settle for less," he said.

"We are therefore consolidating our talent and resources into an afternoon and a Sunday newspaper, to be known as the World Journal Tribune in both instances," Meyer said.

Originally the company had planned to publish the Herald Tribune in the morning, the World Journal in the afternoon and the World Journal Tribune on Sunday.

The loss of the Herald Tribune left Manhattan with four major dailies, including the World Journal Tribune. The others are the morning New York Times and Daily News and the afternoon Post. Manhattan had six major dailies before the merger. Thirty-five years ago there were 12.

Thus only the word Tribune on the new masthead remained of a journalistic history that began with the penny-a-copy Herald of James Gordon Bennett in 1835. Six years later Horace Greeley's Tribune was born.

Separately, and later as the merged Herald Tribune, the papers were home to some of the greatest names of American journalism: Mark Twain, Richard Harding Davis, Henry J. Raymond and Charles A. Dana. In modern times, the Herald Tribune's columnists included Art Buchwald, John O'Hara, Walter Kerr, Walter Lippmann and Red Smith.

The last of the liberal Republican Herald Tribune's owners was John Hay Whitney, who bought the paper in 1958. Whitney brought innovations in format and makeup which attracted the attention of the entire newspaper industry but circulation declined. In 1965, the paper's last full year, it was 303,179 daily and 360,876 Sunday.

John Hay Whitney, publisher of the Herald Tribune and former U.S. ambassador to England, said he would continue to publish the Paris edition of the paper. He recently sold a 45 per cent share in the overseas edition to the Washington Post.

Meyer said the folding of the Tribune was the direct result of the breakdown Aug. 4 of negotiations between the publishers and the Pressmen's Union, the only one of 10 unions which has not come to terms.

Thomas M. Laura, Mallers Union president who acted as spokesman for all the newspaper unions, said:

"I think Meyer is wrong to accuse the unions. You have to look at the position of both sides in this dispute."

Meyer said the Herald Tribune's end would mean a loss of 800 jobs.

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said the state would set up special services to help Herald Tribune employees find new jobs.

Mechanics Get Details of Agreement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking mechanics receive today details of a tentative agreement aimed at ending by Friday the shutdown of five major airlines.

The idled airlines said they could resume some flights this weekend if the agreement is approved by the strikers at meetings across the nation Friday. The strike is now in its 40th day.

P. L. (Roy) Siemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists, called the settlement, reached about dawn Monday, "the best ever in one set of negotiations by any union."

Details of the contract were to remain secret until the 35,400 strikers received a letter from Siemiller in which he said he recommended ratification of the agreement reached with the airlines — Eastern, National, Northwest, Trans World and United.

Informed sources said, however, the contract was a three-year package worth about $90 million — an estimated 8 per cent increase for the machinists.

This would mean a $1 per hour increase over three years for top mechanics now earning $3.52 per hour plus benefits that bring the total to $4 per hour.

The agreement is believed also to contain a cost-of-living wage escalator clause, a key union demand. Lack of such a clause reportedly was instrumental in union rejection of an agreement negotiated under White House auspices July 29. The White House had no comment on the new agreement.

Officials believe another reason for the 3-1 vote against the first agreement was lack of understanding of its provisions. In an effort to get a speedy ratification of the July 29 agreement only terse telegrams were sent to the locals and the vote was taken two days later.

This time, however, Siemiller mailed personal letters to all striking union members for whom the headquarters had addresses — an estimated 28,000.

After news of the new settlement reached Congress Monday, the House Rules Committee delayed action on a Senate-passed resolution to force the strikers to return to the jobs they left July 8.

No further congressional action on the measure is expected pending the outcome of the union vote scheduled to be held simultaneously across the country at 3 p.m. EDT Friday.

Results of the vote are to be telephoned or telegraphed to union headquarters here by 6 p.m. EDT Friday. The strike — believed to be the longest, biggest and most costly in airline annals — technically would end if the union members ratify the settlement Friday.

Family Just Took a Cab

DECATUR, Ill. (AP) — The H. J. Rottman family of Decatur couldn't get a plane reservation in New York because of the strike by mechanics against five major airlines. So they took a cab.

Rottman, president of a construction firm in Tuscola, Ill., arrived in New York from a vacation in the Virgin Islands with his wife and their sons, Matthew, 10, and Peter, 8.

The family made the 1,100-mile auto trip home nonstop, from 10 a.m. Friday to 5 p.m. Saturday. At the wheel was Leo Silverstein, who owns his own taxi. He charged $300 for the haul.

Said Mrs. Rottman: "You should have seen those stares we got coming through Ohio and Indiana in a New York City cab."

Miss Molly Leigh Strech,

My Darling Daughter:

Your Mother has told me that you asked why you had not received a letter thanking you for your help in my recent campaign for the office of State Representative. It was not your Daddy's intention to ignore your very splendid contribution to his campaign in any way.

Daddy has been very busy since the election on July 26th trying to go throughout the County thanking those 2,500 good friends who voted for him for State Representative.

When one runs for public office, Darling, there are so many hundreds of fine people who give so untiringly of their time and efforts that it is very difficult to reach them all in person...or by letter...to express your gratitude for their efforts and support.

Although your Daddy did not win in his bid for this very important office, he has an abiding faith that by running for public office...and in so doing becoming a participant in this life and not just a spectator...he has, perhaps, made our own County just a little better place in which to live.

Of course we know not what the future holds for us, Sweetheart, because the future itself is held in the hands of the Great Architect of the Universe. With his blessing we shall continue the fight so that you and your young friends might have a better place in which to live.

My grateful thanks, Sweetheart

Powell Raps 3 Homers for Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Three wings by Boog Powell were just enough for the Baltimore Orioles. One swing by Andy Kosco was too much for the California Angels.

Powell snapped an 11th-inning deadlock with a two-run homer, his third blast of the game and 30th of the season, giving the Orioles a 4-2 victory over Boston Monday night.

Kosco, given a reprieve after apparently striking out, broke a seventh-inning tie with a run-scoring single, sparking Minnesota to a 5-3 victory over the angry Angels.

Powell's three big swings preserved the Orioles' 13½ game lead in the American League. Kosco's extra swing sent California Manager Bill Rigney into a rage.

With two out in the Twins' seventh and the lead run on second base, Umpire Jim Odom called Kosco out after he swung at a two-strike pitch, but Al Salerno, the umpire at first base, ruled that the ball had tipped Kosco's bat.

Kosco then singled to center, sending the Twins ahead 3-2. A moment later, with Minnesota pitcher Jim Kaat at bat, Rigney tossed a bowl and warmup jacket out of the California dugout, then rushed out himself to do battle with Odom.

The umpire tossed Rigney out of the game, and Kaat lashed a two-run triple, putting the Twins out of reach and insuring his 17th victory — tops in the league.

Two-run homers by Jim Gentile and Chuck Hinton powered Cleveland past Washington 4-3; Norm Cash's 200th career homer helped Detroit edge New York 6-5 and Don Buford's run-scoring single in the 10th inning gave Chicago a 4-3 decision over Kansas City in other AL games.

Los Angeles shaded Cincinnati 4-3; Philadelphia crushed Chicago 11-5 and Atlanta defeated Houston 4-2 in the only National League games scheduled.

Powell, who has slammed eight homers in his last 13 games, sent the Orioles ahead 1-0 with the first of his three opposite-field drives in the fourth inning.

Tony Conigliaro's 23rd homer, a two-run shot in the sixth, put the Red Sox on top, but Powell connected again with one out in the ninth, sending the game into extra innings.

Frank Robinson drew a lead-off walk in the 11th and, one out later, Powell smashed a John Wyatt pitch into the left field screen.

California's George Brunet yielded only three hits before the stormy seventh but suffered his ninth loss in 20 decisions.

Harmon Killebrew hit his 26th homer for the Twins and Joe Adcock homered twice for the Angels.

Gentile hit his first homer as an Indian after Rocky Colavito walked in the fourth inning and Hinton connected in the fifth after a single by Leon Wagner.

Paul Casanova's second homer of the game, with one on in the ninth, closed the gap before Luis Tiant rescued winner Sonny Siebert.

Cash sent Detroit ahead 4-2 with a two-run homer in the fifth and the Tigers added two more runs, then held off a Yankee rally in the ninth. Bobby Richardson rapped four hits, including a homer, and Tom Fresh hit a two-run shot for the Yankees.

Buford's 10th inning hit scored Al Weis, who had led off the inning with a single and moved to second on a sacrifice. Bill Skowron's pinch hit homer in the seventh had pulled the White Sox even.

Torres Wins Over Aging Eddie Cotton

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The cheers went to Eddie Cotton, a tough old battler from Seattle, and the jeers fell to the light heavyweight champion Jose Torres.

But it was Torres who headed home to Brooklyn today with his world title intact, after winning a unanimous 15-round decisions over 40-year-old Cotton in the Las Vegas Convention Center Monday night.

Ancient Eddie was the sentimental favorite, but a 7-2 underdog, and most of the crowd — it was announced as 4,300 but appeared to be more like 3,300 — thought he had won the championship.

In the dressing room later, Cotton, was the picture of dejection and frustration, the latter a characteristic that has been his life of almost 20 years in the fight game.

"I won the fight," said Cotton. "I know I won the fight. There's no doubt in my mind about it."

Arkansas Outdoors

LONOKE, August 12 — After 10 years of futile attempts to establish striped bass, the Arkansas G & F Fisheries Division appears to have solved the riddle.

It began in 1956, when the division sought to introduce the big, scrappy fish to Arkansas waters by placing adult fish obtained from the Carolinas in Lake Ouachita. Little evidence of success was found and the division made experimental stockings later with intermediate sized strippers. This too ended in failure.

The division then decided to stock striper fingerling — fish four to six inches long — but faced the problem of finding a stock of the small fish. Maryland commercial fishermen offered to sell this size fish for 50 cents each, but the cost made this idea prohibitive. The fish would have to be hatchery raised from the tiny egg or fry stage.

But how? Other state G & F agencies had tried and none had been successful.

Last April the division secured 600,000 striped bass fry from North Carolina, and instead of placing them in troughs filled with running spring water — a practice in the past that had proved a mistake — the fry were placed in small aquariums. A G & F biologist then began a six-day, 24-hour vigilas filtered pond water was circulated through the aquariums. A week later the fish had developed mouth parts and were swimming and feeding vigorously. Shortly afterwards all were placed in rearing ponds at the Joe Hogan Fish Hatchery in Lonoke.

Last month biologist cropped 41,500 stripers from one of the extra-crowded ponds and deposited the fish in Dardanelle Reservoir. The remaining 517,000 will be held at the hatchery and will be stocked by November in Dardanelle Reservoir, now considered to be the state's best striped bass habitat.

Total mortality during the entire operation from the time the tiny fry were packaged in plastic bags in North Carolina until they were released in the nursery ponds was estimated at less than seven per cent. This is an amazing survival rate. Ten years ago the loss was 100 per cent.

Mathews Is Big Gun in Braves' Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ed Mathews struck purple, New York's Deron Johnson saw red and Bill Houston White battered Chicago black Chicago and blue.

Those developments occurred Monday night as Mathews powered Atlanta past Houston 4-2, Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 4-3 with Johnson's help and Philadelphia whipped Chicago 11-5 behind White's big bat.

Mathews, whose home run won the Braves' first game under Billy Hitchcock last Tuesday, did it again against the Astros by hitting a two-run homer in the seventh inning.

The homer was a towering shot, landing in the purple seats at the Astrodome. The seats, located on the fourth level, seldom have been reached in the stadium's two-year history.

Johnson, on the other hand, didn't do much hitting at all, and that had him seeing red.

The Reds' slugger, who has 57 runs batted in this season compared with his major league-leading total of 130 last year, came to bat in the seventh inning with two runs, in two tying runs on base and two out.

Bob Miller replaced starter Claude Osteen and got Johnson to fly out.

A similar situation cropped up in the ninth. The Reds scored one run, cutting the Dodger lead to 4-3, and had two men on and again with two out. This time Phil Regan replaced Miller, and Johnson struck out.

White didn't hit any mammoth homers, but he didn't kill any rallies either. Instead, he lashed three singles and drove in five runs. He singled home two in the first inning, two in the second and one in the eighth.

The output raised his runs batted in total to 79, six more than he had all of last season.

There was no output from Pittsburgh and San Francisco, the top two teams in the league, Monday night. They had a day of rest, so the Pirates maintained their 1½-game lead over the Giants. The Dodgers are three games back.

In the American League, Baltimore trimmed Boston 4-2 in 11 innings. Detroit edged New York 6-5, Cleveland nipped Washington 4-3, Minnesota topped California 5-3 and Chicago stopped Kansas City 4-3 in 10.

Mathews' home run, following the first of two singles by pitcher Tony Cloninger, boosted the Braves into a 3-2 lead. Mathews singled home their first run in the first inning. Cloninger allowed just five hits, none between the third and the eighth innings.

The Dodgers scored all four of their runs in the fourth inning. Jim Gilliam singled and Lou Johnson homered for the first two, and Wes Parker and John Roseboro singled in the others.

White's lusty performance helped Chris Short to his 14th victory although the southpaw needed relief help from Terry Fox in the eighth after doubles by Adolfo Phillips and Billy Williams cut the Phillies' lead to 8-5. Byron Browne and Ron Santo homered for Chicago.

Charger Vets Leave Camp

ESCONDIDO, Calif. (AP) — The San Diego Chargers are without two veteran players today in the wake of a salary dispute.

Frank Buncom, a five-year linebacker, and Ron Mix, a six-year tackle, left training camp Monday, saying they were unable to get the salaries they had requested.

First prize went to Dancing Cloud, 28, and second prize to Red Squirrel, 13, both of Bradford, R.I.

Blytheville Takes State Legion Title

MONETTE, Ark. (AP) — Blytheville rode the pitching of Bobby George and the hitting of Ronny Yarbrough to the American Legion baseball championship Monday night in a 14-7 triumph over Little Rock.

Blytheville, 44-5 for the year, thus earned a berth in the South Central American Legion regional meet starting at Memphis Friday. The Arkansas champion will face the Texas winner in the first game of the double elimination tournament.

George came on in relief after Little Rock took a 5-4 lead in the third inning on a grand slam homer by outfielder Butch Howard.

Yarbrough, the most valuable player in the meet, had three hits.

But Blytheville, winning its third title in four years, tallied twice in the fourth, three times in the sixth and added five more in the seventh to win going away.

Broncos Are Trading Gilchrist

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — The Denver Broncos were reported to be dealing with the Oakland Raiders for a trade for rebellious fullback Cookie Gilchrist.

Bronco Coach Mac Speedie said Monday the American Football League deal "has not been consummated yet and may not be for another couple of days."

The deal reportedly would see Gilchrist traded for a veteran lineman whom Speedie would not identify.

Gilchrist has refused to play for the Broncos this year, turning in a resignation accompanied by a blast at the Denver management for allegedly not trying to produce winning teams.

RFK Shuns Role of a Kingmaker

By MALCOLM STEPHENSON
NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., remained silent today rather than assume the role of kingmaker — even after the man believed to have been his favorite quit the race for the Democratic nomination to run against New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Eugene H. Nickerson, executive of Nassau County on Long Island, withdrew Monday night saying: "It is now apparent that I will not have the necessary delegate votes to win the nomination."

The withdrawal appeared to make Frank D. O'Connor, president of the New York City Council, even more of a front-runner for the gubernatorial nomination at the Democratic State Convention in Buffalo next month.

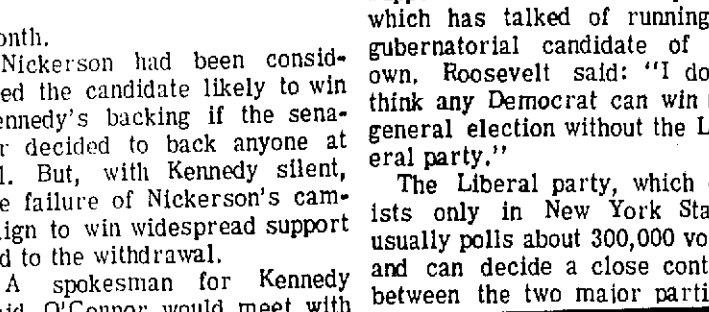

Nickerson had been considered the candidate likely to win Kennedy's backing if the senator decided to back anyone at all. But, with Kennedy silent, the failure of Nickerson's campaign to win widespread support led to the withdrawal.

A spokesman for Kennedy said O'Connor would meet with the senator today or Wednesday. The spokesman said: "Some people are saying we're trying to duck him. Well, it just ain't so." O'Connor made a telephone request last Thursday that Kennedy make public his thoughts on the nomination.

Most observers feel that only active opposition by Kennedy could now prevent O'Connor from winning the nomination to oppose the Republican governor's bid for a third four-year term.

In addition to O'Connor, the narrowed field of announced candidates includes: —Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who beat Tammany Hall opposition and won a seat in Congress from a West Side Manhattan district in 1949. He was re-elected twice.

—Howard J. Samuels, millionaire industrialist of Canandaigua, whose support is largely in upstate counties.
Kennedy is a pivotal factor in the political jockeying because he has steadily widened his influence in the state Democratic party since he burst upon the state scene in 1964 — giving up his Massachusetts voting residence and his Virginia domicile, becoming a New York resident and getting elected senator.
Nickerson, who announced his withdrawal at a hastily called news conference, was asked whether he was disappointed that Kennedy had not spoken out for him.
After a pause, Nickerson said slowly: "I'm disappointed, whenever anyone doesn't support me. So I'm disappointed."
Roosevelt, at a news conference before Nickerson's withdrawal, urged O'Connor to withdraw from the race. Roosevelt called O'Connor a "sure-fire loser" in the November election.
Roosevelt said it would take "considerable effort" by Kennedy to stop O'Connor from winning the nomination.
He said O'Connor cannot win support from the Liberal party, which has talked of running a gubernatorial candidate of its own. Roosevelt said: "I don't think any Democrat can win the general election without the Liberal party."
The Liberal party, which exists only in New York State, usually polls about 300,000 votes and can decide a close contest between the two major parties.

Wyoming to Polls to Pick Governor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wyoming Democrats and Republicans choose nominees today for governor and the state's one House seat. Montana holds primary elections, too, but contests there have failed to attract national attention.

Five candidates are seeking the Democratic nomination for governor of Wyoming. Three regarded as the chief contenders are Ernest Wilkerson and Ray Whitaker, Casper attorneys, and Jack Gage, a former secretary of state.

Bidding for the Republican nomination are Stan Hathaway, Torrington attorney; M. Joseph Burke, Casper sheep rancher, and Arthur Linde Laramie sports store operator and a political unknown.

Wyoming Gov. Cliff Hansen is expected to gain the Republican nomination for the Senate over M. W. Kinney, who has offered himself for various offices in the past, including the presidency as candidate of the Benjamin Franklin party which he established.

Rep. Teno Roncallo is unopposed for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Four candidates are bidding for the Democratic nomination to the House seat Roncallo is giving up. Regarded as front runners are Mayne Miller, a Casper attorney, and Al Christian, once state director of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education.

Former Rep. William Henry Harrison, defeated by Roncallo two years ago, is seeking the Republican nomination but has opposition from Roy Peck, Riverton newspaper publisher. Harrison is a grandson of President Benjamin Harrison.

Montana also elects a senator this year but incumbent Sen. Lee Metcalf is unopposed for Democratic renomination and Gov. Tim M. Babcock has no opposition for the Republican spot.

With two years to go on his term as governor, Babcock will continue in that office if he misses in the fall election in his try for the Senate.

Montana's two House members — Democrat Arnold Olsen and Republican James F. Battin — are unopposed for renomination.

There is a contest between Richard Smiley, operator of a Bozeman radio station, and Edward Canty, a Butte miner, for the Republican nomination to run against Olsen.

Richard Melcher, a state senator, is unopposed for the Democratic nomination to challenge Battin.

Mrs. Lester Kent

Last week at the B & PW dinner meet at Diamond Cafe Mrs. Lester Kent discussed world affairs, challenging members to take more positive attitude and action toward individual responsibilities and opportunities in preserving American freedom.

Mrs. Douglas Drake sang, "How Great Thou Art" and Rachel Edmiston led the group in a patriotic song, accompanied by Eva Reynerson.

Other program committee members were Mrs. F. E. Russell, Margie Vickers and Louise Eubanks. Velora Bright, president, introduced Elsie Weisenberger, a guest and the guests of Belle Klipsch and Martha Stevenson.

London's underworld, has charged John Edward Witney with being one of the murderers of three unarmed policemen. He faces arraignment today.

The charge was placed against Witney, 36, described as unemployed, less than 72 hours after the crime that shocked Britain.

It said he was responsible "with others" for the murders of detectives Christopher Tippet, David Stanley Wombell and Geoffrey Roger Fox.

The shooting of the three policemen Friday near Wormwood Scrubs Prison in West London touched off the biggest manhunt in London's history. Nearly 20,000 police and detectives were thrown into the hunt.

The underworld helped. Police said well-known criminals have been donating money to the families of the slain men as well as supplying information.

Banks Major Lenders to Farmers

Arkansas banks remain a major source of credit and other financial services to farmers in our state according to Thomas E. Hays, Sr. Vice-president, The First National Bank of Hope, who represents the Arkansas Bankers Association as Hempstead County Key Banker. During 1965 the state's banks maintained their leadership in agricultural credit services.

Based on the 25th annual farm lending summary of the Agricultural Committee of The American Bankers Association, Mr. Hays reported that at the beginning of 1966, Arkansas banks were helping farmers with $180 million in loans, 11 per cent more than a year previous. This total included $103 million in production loans and $77 million in farm mortgages. At the same time, $203 million in farm loans was held by life insurance companies; $60 million by the Federal Land Banks; $81 million by Production Credit Associations' and $15 million in non-real estate loans, plus $32 million in real estate loans by the Farmers Home Administration. About 52 per cent of the production credit extended by leading institutions to Arkansas farmers came from banks.

Mr. Hays said that "bankers in Arkansas are conscious of the large capital investments required in agriculture today and are making a concerted effort through improved lending programs to meet these changing credit demands of the state's farmers."

The increased use of credit by farmers, according to Mr. Hays has been accompanied by a substantial gain in the total assets of farm families. Therefore, in the aggregate, the equity position of farmers, contrary to public opinion, is being maintained at a satisfactory level. Nationally, farm families have $212 billion of their own funds invested in agriculture. This represents 84 per cent of the total capital requirements of farmers.

Mr. Hays stressed the importance of farmers and bankers working closely together to improve farm financial arrangements. He reported that nine out of ten insured banks throughout the country had agricultural loans outstanding, with nearly 99 per cent of the banks in Arkansas extending credit to farm people.

DOUSE THIS BEACH PARTY

Dear Helen: I'm not too experienced with boys and I've never touched liquor. This fellow seems like a nice guy, and my parents like him. Then he introduced me to the crowd he hangs out with, and it's still hard to believe he's a roughhead, though they are. One of his friends just got out of jail and I know they drink.

Well, he asked me to a party and he said it would be a "beach-like thing" with about six couples, and "We'll have fun."

I'm not sure, but I think they will serve liquor. I don't want to go, but if I turn him down, he may ask somebody else and I'll be out a boy friend. If I go, he may start drinking and get fresh. He has always been real nice to me, and treated me with respect. My parents trust him. Should I go, or what? — Mislead and Undecided.

Dear M and U: Don't take chances. Inexperienced girls and "beach-like things" go together like a surfboard in a tidal wave.

And consider this: You thought the boy was a nice guy until you met his crowd. That's just what people will be saying about you if you become part of it. — H.

Dear Helen: My mother and father are divorced and she always said it was my fault because I fought so much with him. I wish it hadn't been that way. I always seemed to be caught in the middle, but I don't remember fighting.

Now my mother is going with a man who is seven years younger than she is. She treats him like dirt. He's awfully kind to me and he reminds me of my father, so we talk together a lot.

The other day my mother and I had another big set-to. She said she wished I'd leave because I am coming between her and this man, just like I did with her and my father. Honest, I never did, with either of them. I guess I'm trouble, all the way round. I get a check every month from my Dad, and I'm 18 and going to college here in the city next month. I'd planned to live at home, but now I don't know. She said she hates me and she means it.

When John (I'll call him) saw me crying, he said I could live with his mother and go to school. She rents to students. Would this be the best way.

Dear Nadine: Unless you want to throw gasoline on the fire, you'd better try for the college dorm — and preferably for a college in another city, if you can get admission at this late date.

And stop blaming yourself for all the family troubles. Mothers who saddle their children with this kind of guilt can't face up to their own shortcomings. Yours deserves pity — preferably from a distance. — H.

Dear Helen: This girl is always cutting me down. I do well in school and I try not to say anything because she makes fun of me, then says she can do "far better." But instead she brings home failures on her grade card. I'm sorry for her, but...

She demands her own way on threat of a tantrum. She is a pest and I can't be mean the way she is, so I can't get it across I want her to leave. She acts conceited and can't say enough mean things about others. How can I brush her off without a big scene? I'm the kind that takes too much because I hate to hurt people — Truly Pest-ered

Dear T.P.: I'd like to say, "Be sweet and kind, and this girl will plug into your halo" but life isn't like that.

You've tried patience and pity. The direct approach is all that remains. Tell her you don't like her attitude or remarks, and if she can't shape up, get lost. — H.

Young Kennedy Leaves Hospital

HYANNIS, Mass. (AP) — John F. Kennedy Jr., son of the late president, left Cape Cod Hospital with his mother Sunday, "very happy" after a two days' stay to have his tonsils removed.

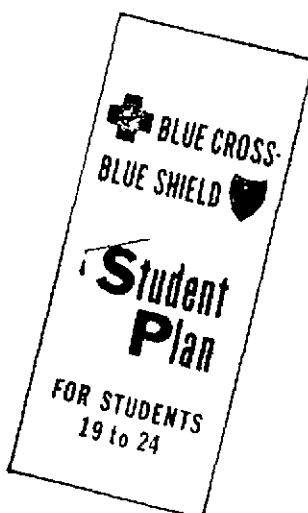

Hospital officials said Mrs. Kennedy had a room across the hall from John, 5, and stayed with him as Dr. Edward Weymueller of New York performed the routine surgery Saturday.

Records reveal that only one of five car thieves is caught.
